Pen-Link's products and services can only be purchased directly from Pen-Link, Ltd., which is located in Lincoln, Nebraska. Pen-Link's Federal Tax I.D. # is 47-0707585.

Please call if you have any immediate questions or need further help with your purchase of Pen-Link.

Sole Source Justification for a PenLink

System and Accompanying Services

The PenLink system that we wish to purchase is used extensively by many other agencies with whom we work cooperatively, including federal agencies like the FBI, DEA, Marshals, Secret Service, ATF, and ICE/HSI, ensuring wide compatibility with other agencies. The PenLink system offers several unique functions, features, and capabilities that fully meet all of the operational requirements that we have for such a system. Other available systems do not offer the full range of capabilities found in the PenLink system; most only do part of what the PenLink system can do. Some may handle historical communications (subpoenaed or gained through search warrants) while others may focus on live collection (pen registers, location pings, or wiretaps). Some may process more traditional telephone-based communications while others focus on newer, Internet-based means of communication. Some may focus on the live collection aspect (monitoring, minimization, etc) while others focus on the analysis aspect (analysis of intelligence already collected). The key difference between other systems and the PenLink system is that the PenLink system supports all of these things in one system. It is a single, integrated system that supports collection and analysis of all modes of electronic communications: historical records and live intercepts; telephone-based and Internet-based communications, including email, webmail, messaging apps, social media (Facebook, Instagram, Snapchat, etc), and more. The PenLink system can also process and analyze data and content extracted from cell phones and other mobile devices using wide-spread forensic platforms like the Cellebrite UFED or the MSAB XRY. Because it combines all of these capabilities into one technology platform, with one unifying database, the PenLink system will greatly enhance our ability to collect and analyze electronic communications intelligence across the entire range of communications options used to support the criminal activities and enterprises that we investigate, including various means hosted by today's extensive social networks.

Part of what supports the above capabilities is the PenLink database. PenLink is the only system of its type that comes with an embedded Enterprise instance of Oracle. Other systems may use MySQL (an open source SQL database) or Microsoft SQL Server, which require IT personnel for separate database administration of the external database system. The PenLink system's approach offers the full power of Oracle Enterprise, often regarded as the most capable commercial, SQL-based, relational database in the world, in the convenience of an embedded format, where all DBA administrative and management functions are internally automated, so that dedicated IT personnel are not required (a cost savings).

The PenLink system includes many unique analytical functions, and other capabilities that will further enhance our operational capabilities, the ability to identify, decode, and reassemble raw packet based content from internet communications (e.g., web surfing); the ability to customize analytical reports or add new ones; automated, scheduled report output; a conversation view for messaging-based communications (Blackberry, Instagram, Facebook, etc); a combined analysis view that combines all modes of captured communications into one analytical report; automated deconfliction; regular expression pattern matching; batch deep search; a thumbnail gallery view with support for known hash sets; the ability to interface with other systems, and many other things too numerous to summarize here. Please see the attached document from PenLink for more details on unique capabilities.

already in the applicable commercial market. Software Updates occur within the same major version number of an existing software product. For example, replacing Pen-Link v8.1.29.0 with Pen-Link v8.1.30.0 would constitute a Software Update. Such an update is often referred to as a New Build of the Pen-Link Software.

1.7. Software Upgrade. A Software Upgrade is the replacement of an older major version of an existing Pen-Link Software product or products, with a newer major version of a Pen-Link Software product or products, to the extent required to maintain the same operational functionality that was supported by the Pen-Link Software prior to the upgrade. For example, upgrading from Pen-Link Version 7 to Pen-Link Version 8 (where 8 is the newer major version) would constitute a Software Upgrade, so long as the installation of the newer version of the Pen-Link Software supported at least the same operational functionality that the Customer had under Pen-Link version 7. Upgrades do not apply to new software products that Pen-Link, Ltd. may release to the commercial market from time to time in the future.

Emergency After-Hours support services may be accessed through methods, including telephone access, that are provided to the customer at the time of purchase.
