EDGE

Principal

A Partner at EDGE, Tim brings creativity and vision to projects of all scales. His collaborative approach balances client goals with the thoughtful integration of architecture and site-specific factors, ensuring that each project exceeds expectations. His expertise includes master plans and detailed site design for urban environments, mixed-use developments, multi-family housing, corporate headquarters, healthcare facilities, and civic institutions. Tim provides “hands on” project management through all phases of design and construction including site analysis, concept development, master planning, construction documentation and client communications.
