

DARNITA BRADLEY BIOGRAPHY

Darnita Bradley is Manager of Governmental Affairs and Economic Development for Columbia Gas of Ohio. Headquartered in Columbus, Ohio, Columbia is the state's largest natural gas utility, serving nearly 1.4 million residential, commercial and industrial customers in 61 of Ohio's 88 counties.

Bradley's responsibilities include managing Columbia's economic development grant program, providing direction and counsel on natural gas issues to local, regional and state economic development organizations. She manages legislative issues and participates in public policy making in Columbus, manages the company's political action committee program, serves on the Columbia Gas of Ohio charitable contributions committee and Inclusion and Diversity Council.

She serves on the board of directors of Utility Economic Development Association; Community Shelter Board; Leadership Columbus, Columbus2020 Economic Development Advisory Committee; Gahanna Community Reinvestment Area Housing Council; and she serves on United Way's Income Impact Council.

Bradley holds a bachelor's degree in Accounting and MBA from Franklin University in Columbus. She is an Alumna of United Way Project Diversity, Leadership Columbus and member of United Way Women's Leadership Council.