Dear Greg:

Thank you for your membership in NACWA. Enclosed please find your Fiscal Year (FY) 2015 dues invoice and NACWA's Year-At-A-Glance, a compilation of the past year's achievements – clearly demonstrating The Power of Association.

As we embark on the Association's 45th anniversary year, an overarching theme you'll see highlighted is the power we have when we join forces and act collectively as NACWA. As you read through the Year-At-A-Glance, I encourage you to take note of each section – The Power of Leadership; The Power of Advocacy & Analysis; The Power of Collaboration; and, The Power of Recognition. They reflect the many ways in which our impact, influence, and innovation advance our local economies, protect and improve the environment, and make our communities a better place to live.

NACWA's ability to effectively represent our interests results in an undeniable return on investment for our members individually and our profession collectively. I thank you for processing your dues renewal without delay to help us continue this successful path forward.

Throughout the coming year, the Association will continue to be your unyielding advocate on clean water issues and is committed to enhance your member experience, increasing the value you receive. Along with NACWA's Board of Directors and National Office staff, I look forward to working with you to represent the best interests of your utility.

Sincerely,

Karen Pallansch
NACWA President
