Re: Sole Source Designation

ACISS Systems is the designer, developer, and holder of the source code to the law enforcement software you are using. ACISS Systems, Inc. is the only source for licensing, software upgrades, modifications, customization, and software maintenance services. No other entity has the rights to license or service ACISS Software.

No other vendor can provide the services you require due to the proprietary and confidential nature of the software and the ACISS database.

The company claims copyrights to all ACISS software modules and documentation.

Sincerely,
