

Rachael Schultz, NOMA

Architect

Rachael thrives on the challenge of designing spaces that connect people to their community, with a passion for breathing new life into historic buildings.

Rachael loves the puzzle-like nature of architecture—breaking down complex projects to craft spaces that are both functional and full of character. With experience spanning K-12 schools, institutional projects, and historic preservation, she’s drawn to the stories that older buildings tell and the opportunity to help them write their next chapter. Rachael joined Meyers+Associates for its sharp attention to detail and collaborative, no-ego culture, where she’s excited to tackle private projects and expand the firm’s work in adaptive reuse. Growing up in a military family, she developed an appreciation for diverse places and people, which continues to influence her thoughtful, human-centered approach to design.
