Melissa P. Ingwersen
President, Chase

Melissa Ingwersen joined Chase in March 1989.

She has spent her entire career in Corporate Banking, serving first as a relationship manager and later as a lending group manager and division manager.

Promoted to President in 2001, Melissa is now responsible for all of the bank's corporate banking activities in Central Ohio, and she leads the bank's broader strategies in the market.

Melissa began her banking career as a credit analyst with National City Corporation, and later served in various lending roles in Middle Market Banking, National Lending and Private Banking. She earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Communication Studies from Northwestern University in 1982.

Melissa is an active community volunteer and leader. She co-chaired the 2003 Operation Feed campaign as well as the 2004 State Board of Education task force on "Quality High Schools". She is a trustee on the boards of the YWCA of Columbus, where she serves as Board Chair, Columbus Chamber of Commerce, Columbus Museum of Art, Franklin University, and is a member of The Columbus Partnership. She has been honored as a Business First "40 under 40" recipient, and is a member of the Leadership Columbus Hall of Fame.

Melissa resides with her husband Frank and two children in Bexley.

JPMorgan Chase & Co. employs more than 14,000 Central Ohioans. Its 16,000 employees across the state make JPMorgan Chase Ohio's largest financial services employer.
