Dear Mr. Rau,

ADS LLC manufactures and sells flow and level monitoring equipment under its trademarked label, ADS Environmental Services. ADS LLC is the only authorized distributor of ADS Environmental Services equipment in the United States.

ADS products utilize embedded communication hardware to access cellular networks to allow communications with the flow meter or level sensor equipment. These embedded communication hardware devices are unique to the ADS hardware product line and not offered from other vendors. ADS is the only source for the hardware to upgrade existing ADS flow meters from 3G cellular functionality to 4G. ADS will not be responsible for the functionality or operation of equipment fitted with non-ADS supplied components. This is particularly important to achieve the electrical classification of Class1Div1 as needed due to the potential presence of methane in the sewer collection system. Only ADS components may be utilized in the approved installation methods to achieve this electrical rating.

Sincerely,
ADS LLC
