Brittany Boulton joined Finance Fund in 2019 as the organization's Director of External Relations. Finance Fund is a mission-driven statewide nonprofit financial intermediary that has an impactful and dynamic history of connecting Ohio's underserved communities with needed capital and creative funding.

Brittany works with elected officials, policy-makers, community organizations, and media outlets to advance Finance Fund's critical programming across the state. She tells the story of Finance Fund through our publications, social media, and marketing efforts. Her work promotes Finance Fund's Healthy Food for Ohio, New Markets Tax Credit, and Small Business Administration projects.

Her decade of experience includes advocacy and government relations, strategic communications, public and private fundraising, and writing for an ever-changing audience. She began her career as a legislative aide in the Ohio Statehouse and has since worked for private consulting firms as well as non-profits.

Brittany graduated from Bowling Green State University with bachelors degrees in Political Science and Russian, as well as from DePaul University with a Master's Degree in Women's and Gender Studies.
